

ADVOCACY NEWS

Join Us for a Nationwide Discussion on Cancer and COVID-19

Join the Oncology Nursing Society, Celebrate Life Cancer Ministry, Women of Color, and National Congress of Black Women-Los Angeles Chapter in a robust discussion about the need to educate cancer survivors and caregivers during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Saturday, October 2, 10:00 am PST

Register Now

Educating the Patient, Caregiver, and Provider on the Needs of Underrepresented Communities

People of color are particularly impacted by the coronavirus, yet access to accurate information and opportunities for care have become barriers for many. Within underrepresented communities, especially those diagnosed with or at high risk for cancer, understanding the pathway to survivorship is challenging.

We will discuss breast cancer, blood cancers, lung cancer, ovarian, and mental health as it relates to cancer.

Expert oncology nurses, faith leaders, and civil rights activists will speak about the difficulties and advances in reaching targeted audiences with culturally competent care during this pandemic.

Speakers Include:

- Wendy Garvin Mayo, MSN, RN, OCN®, NE-BC
- Bertie Fields, RN, MS
- Lynn Sanders, MSN, RN, OCN®, NE-BC
- Pastor Rhonda Holbert, Celebrate Life Cancer Ministry
- Alene Brown Harris, National Congress of Black Women-Los Angeles Chapter
- Stephanie Beverly-Smith, Women of Color

Oncology Nursing Society 125 Enterprise Drive • Pittsburgh, PA 15275 | 866-257-4ONS (866-257-4667) | www.ons.org

For more information contact Celebrate Life Cancer Ministry 424.258.5433

Celebrate LIFE
CANCER MINISTRY

Women of Color
Breast Cancer Survivors' Support Project

