

The Black Families Playbook for College Admissions and Scholarships

Sunday, Oct 16
3:00 pm - 4:00 pm

Lincoln Memorial
Congregational Church
4126 Arlington Avenue
Los Angeles 90008

DURING THIS LIVE TRAINING YOU WILL LEARN:

- What parents and teens must do in 9-12 grades to make the most of high school and be college-ready
- Relevant college admissions trends and the scholarship landscape
- How to stand out in your application and write essays that show your brilliance

Co-Presented by

Pamela Ellis, MBA, PhD—The Education Doctor®— is an award-winning educational consultant whose experience includes advising school districts, community organizations, and institutes of higher education.

Dr. Pamela graduated from Stanford University and the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth College, and earned a doctorate from the Stanford University School of Education.

Miles Menafee is an author, co-founder of Real Ballers Read® and Lead Essay Coach at Compass College Advisory. His experience includes serving as a middle school teacher in NYC and Resident Assistant for college freshmen.

Miles graduated from Stanford University with a degree in Philosophy.

Pamela Ellis
Stanford '88, PhD '06

Miles Menafee
Stanford '21